COLORADO SILVER ASSOCIATION.

Resolutions Adopted Regarding Remonetization.

The Colorado Silver Association, which organized at Denver last week, adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, Sixteen years have elapsed since by means indirect and unknown to the people and without their consent the silver dollar was demonetized by the United States Congress and silver was thus degraded.

Resolved, That the people of Colorado, in representative convention assembled, declare:

First—That the time has fully come when the shrinking in price and the confiscation of the products of labor by those who held the debt should cease. That equity between debtor and creditor, and a just money measure for property and obligations must be restored, and that this can be accomplished by no doubtful or untried experiment, but by simply restoring to us the system of metal money coinage that prevailed prior to 1873, and which has in the past proved so beneficial to the people of this and other nations.

Second—That we demand of the Fifty-first Congress, soon to assemble, an Act for the remonetization of silver and for the free and unlimited coinage of the silver dollar of 412½ grains, nine-tenths fine, upon the same terms and conditions as gold and equal gold coin in a legal tender quality, and our Senators in Congress are hereby instructed to labor and to use all legitimate means to the end.

Third—That until such time as the coinage of silver shall begin we demand of the Executive Department a more liberal exercise of its discretion under the Act of February 28, 1873, known as the "Bland Bill," to the end that the purchase and coinage of $4,000,000 worth of silver dollars per month be made as provided in that Act, or if necessary additional legislation to secure that result; also a liberal revision of the regulation of the Treasury Department, so as to facilitate the circulation of silver dollars and silver certificates among the people or additional legislation to that end if it shall appear necessary.

Fourth—That the time has arrived when the Government of the United States can lead the way in the matter of the free and unlimited coinage of silver; that when it opens the Mints to the nation of the world will be compelled to follow, while we do not take any defiant stand, we try upon the people of the United States the fact that our Government is the one to control the question, and that in keeping its Mints closed to free and unlimited coinage it fails to exercise the power which it holds in its hands to effect a sweeping reform in the fiscal policy of the world, increase the prosperity of all branches of industry and to alleviate the condition of all classes of workers.

Fifth—That the present stringency in the money markets of the great commercial centers, considered in connection with the extremely low range of prices for all the products of labor, is abundant and convincing evidence that the money volume has not expanded proportionately to the growth in population, property and business of the country; and that an increased coinage of silver is demanded by every consideration of prudence and statesmanship. The silver dollar, so long pointed to as a useless incubus in the Treasury vaults, has at least been wrung from the custody of unwilling officials and all now are in practical circulation, and still more are needed.

Sixth—That we appeal to the people of our country to join in entering these just demands in behalf of industry and business of every legitimate kind and everywhere it being our well-considered belief that the measures we demand will begin profit to every workshop in the land. Silver and farm products went down together. By these measures they will rise together.

Seventh—That we demand the repeal of Acts by which it is limited by statute, and the immediate passage of declaratory Acts by Congress for the information and guidance of the department and bureau of officials as may be necessary to define and protect the rights of the people in relation to the coinage as they were defined and protected by the declaratory Acts of Congress from 1792 to 1873.

The Austin Reville has entered upon its 54th volume, or the last half of its 27th year, being 26½ years of age. With the exception of the Virginia City Enterprise the Reville has heralded the birth of every Nevada journal. It still hopes to continue its existence and record the enterprises, and reflect the life of Austin and Lander county as it has those many years past, and by the generous support of its subscribers and advertisers will strive to advance and keep pace with the public's demands. It well deserves all it hopes for.

It is not surprising that the glories of Statehood in Dakota are clouded by a prospective deficit of half a million dollars in the State's revenue. The anxiety of the new States to accommodate the greatest possible number of office hunters is largely responsible for this. With a population of 300,000, South Dakota has a Legislature of 160 members, a number greater than Iowa or Nebraska, or any one of half a dozen other States with treble the population. 75 men could accomplish as much for the State as 160.

During nine months of the year the gross earnings of the Burlington system were $8,000,000, more than double the earnings for the same period of 1888. The net balance was equal to a three per cent. dividend. With three busy months of the year left to swell the exchequer, it is likely that the Burlington will, on the first of the year, reach the earning standard which its officials rathlessly wrecked in the strike.

The Silver State says: Congressman McKenna, of California passed here last night on his way to Washington. Though a Pacific Coast man, he is opposed to the free coinage of silver.

Then he ought to be defeated for reelection to Congress.

Congressman Reed and his friends open the Speakership campaign by claiming everything. By the time the Western cyclones get down to business there will be some broken Reeds in the Maine camp.

The Washoe delegation nominated C. C. Stevenson for Governor. The Governor could now very gracefully repay the compliment by the appointment of a Washoe county man for Lieutenant Governor.

Judge Fitzgerald has gone to Eureka, having disposed of all the business before the Court at Winnemucca.

IOWA'S ABLE SENATOR.

THE POSSIBLE DEFEAT OF SENATOR ALLISON ALARMS HIS FRIENDS.

Various News Items from Every Section of The Country.

Allison's Possible Defeat.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The reports published here from Iowa concerning the possibility, if not the probability, of the defeat of Senator Allison for re-election have had the effect of stirring up the Senator's friends in the National Capital as they were never perturbed before.

It is not likely that the Republicans of Iowa fully appreciate the services of Senator Allison, as he has been away from the presence of his constituents so much during the past ten years. His retirement to private life would be very unfortunate for the country at large. Democrats, Prohibitionists, Republicans and citizens of all political faiths would suffer alike. He stands as a breakwater against all kinds of vicious legislation and is the ablest representative of those western interests which have been maturing during the past quarter of a century. A writer in to-day's Post, under the caption, "War on Senator Allison—do the Iowa Republicans propose to commit political harakiri?" quotes a dispatch from Des Moines announcing that the small majority in the Iowa Legislature makes it probable that the Senator's opponents will defeat his re-election, and then goes on to call attention to the misfortunes, especially to Iowa, that would follow Senator Allison's retirement to private life. In the course of the long article, the following is said:

"The position Mr. Allison has attained as Chairman of the Committee of Appropriations in the Senate makes Iowa at this time one of the most influential States in Congress. His defeat means the loss of this valuable ground. Iowa can afford no such loss."

Since the Fortieth Congress down to the Fifty-first, inclusive, a period of 24 years, three States have held the Chairmanship of this most important Committee on Appropriations 20 years of this time. It is a plain proposition that if Iowa allows herself to once lose her grip on the purse strings of the nation, and the control to pass to another State, she will not under Senatorial usage soon again be called upon to resume charge of them. Besides his position of commanding influence on the Appropriation Committee Senator Allison is fourth on the Committee of Finance, and was Chairman of the sub-committee to shape tariff legislation in the Fifty-first Congress and will be at the head of the sub-committee in the Fifty-second Congress, so that Iowa not only shapes all appropriation bills, but the West has thus in the person of Senator Allison been accorded the privilege of shaping the new tariff legislation.

The main fact is the politician is not born who will live to see Iowa in so commanding a place as she to-day occupies by reason of the national confidence reposed in her senior Senator, and the Republican legislator who would make one of the few to combine to tear Iowa from this, her proud position, will fill a most unenviable page in the history of the nation, his State and his party.

THE EXILE'S RETURN.

After Thirteen Years a German Will Claim His Bride.

Special to the Journal.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—A romance in real life, and one of unusual interest, developed here to-day when Maurice Scholl announced his intention of returning to Germany and marrying Fralein Marguerite Miller, the daughter of the Burgomaster of a village near Stuttgart.

One evening when they were returning from the opera Edmund Von Wandel, an army officer, insulted the prospective bride. Scholl challenged him to a duel. Pistols were used and Von Wandel was shot through the heart and instantly killed. Scholl was badly wounded, but managed to escape. Since that time he has been an exile from his native land. He made a fortune in Kansas City, and now that the statute of limitation prevents his being prosecuted he has arranged to return to his home and complete his romance by marrying the girl.

The Storm on the Other Side.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—The rain continued at different points in the State during most of to-day. The Bay here was very rough but no damage to shipping is reported. Sixty county had a fall of an inch of snow. The indications for the northern part of the State are for continuous rain.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—The Sacramento river has risen twelve feet and three inches above low water mark, and fears are entertained that some damage will result if the storm continues.

At Emigrant Gap it is snowing steadily, and at Cisco 12 inches of snow has fallen.

Storming in Pennsylvania.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 19.—The streams in this vicinity are greatly swollen and the bridges on the Northern Central railroad are in danger. Travel is suspended in that route.

TWO NEW U. S. SENATORS.

THE NORTH DAKOTA LEGISLATURE ORGANIZED AND VOTING FOR SENATORS.

A Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce Formed at the Bay Yesterday.

Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Representatives of a number of commercial organizations met to-day to form a Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce. The cities represented were San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Chico, Eureka, Pasadena and Tacoma. The Astoria and Portland delegations were not present, but were represented by proxy. There was some discussion as to the admission of the delegation from the Viceroyal Commission and the State Board of Trade, but they were finally seated. The announcement of the withdrawal of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, made by A. R. Briggs, gave rise to considerable discussion. J. DeBarth Short, H. Lindley and J. R. Brierly, of Los Angeles, and a number of other delegates, expressed regret at the action taken by the local Chamber, but the motion allowing the withdrawal of the San Francisco Chamber was carried and the communication which it had presented ordered stricken from the records.

Captain Merry, President of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, in explaining the reason for the withdrawal of the latter body from the proposed organization, publicly said in substance: "We fear the new organization would admit bodies with whom we could not co-operate. Their interests might antagonize ours. Your body will become a vast political machine, and I think it would be better to memorialize Congress on certain subjects as several organizations rather than as one consolidated body meeting once a year."

The delegates from the San Francisco Produce Exchange also withdrew, saying they required further instructions. The report of the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws was then read. An article to include industrial, as well as commercial organizations, was lost. It was agreed to make the name of the organization the "Pacific Coast Board of Commerce."

Washington Elects Senators.

Special to the Journal.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 19.—By common consent one of the United States Senators was awarded to the East and one to the Western Division of the State of Washington. On ballot to-day for the East side Senator the vote of the House stood: John B. Allen 46, George Turner 14, T. H. Brents 1, Charles S. Voorhees 8, and in the Senate the vote stood: Allen 26, Turner 6.

Upon the ballot for West Side Senator the vote in the House stood: Ex-Governor Watson C. Squire 46, Gen. J. W. Sprague 10, Walter J. Thompson 3, George Turner 1, John F. Govey 1.

The total vote in the House and Senate for East Division U. S. Senator was as follows: John B. Allen 71, Turner 20, Voorhees 8, Squire 2, Brents 1, Griggs 1. The vote for West Division Senator was as follows: Watson C. Squire 76, Sprague 13, Thompson 13, Voorhees 1, Griggs 8. The joint ballot will take place to-morrow.

The Colton Forgery Case.

Special to the Journal.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—This evening the jury in the Colton forgery trial was called into court, after being out 71 hours, and reporting that they had been unable to agree, were discharged. It was learned that the balloting had been eight for acquittal and four for conviction from start to finish.

It leaked out this afternoon that an offer had been made to deliver the vote of one of the jurors. The offer came in a letter to John T. Blasdel, the defendant. The prosecuting attorney admitted he was cognizant of the letter but refused to say anything in explanation.

On Time at the Bay.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—The first fast mail train arrived in this city on time, at 9:45 this morning. A number of railroad officials and persons connected with the Postoffice Department and many others had collected at the railroad terminus, and much enthusiasm was expressed on the arrival of the train, which brought an immense amount of mail matter ready for distribution in this city, and other parts of the Pacific Coast.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

UNUSUAL AND DETERMINED SECRECY IN ITS PREPARATION.

No Advance Copies Printed—An Air of Mystery That Suggests a Document of Unusual Interest.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—President Harrison's absence from the city on a duck shooting tour in Maryland is taken as evidence that he has about completed his messages to Congress. It is understood that the President is awaiting some report from his Cabinet officers in order that he may be possessed of certain routine information necessary to give his message the finishing touches. Certainly he has in his possession the salient points which the report of the Cabinet officers will contain and he has been given the benefit of them in the preparation of his message up to this time.

It is understood that Secretary Windom's report will figure more prominently in the message than that of any other Cabinet officer.

Among the most interesting features of the message will be those relating to the circulation of National bank notes, National bank deposits, the abolition of the internal revenue laws and the expansion of the monthly coinage of silver. The Secretary's and the President's views are in accord on the latter subject.

Senator Sherman has visited the White House several times recently and it is stated that his missions have been to impress the President with the necessity of not only advocating a National election law, but of treating it vigorously and earnestly. Representative Burrows, of Michigan, and other Republicans who recently stamped Virginia, have also urged the President to take positive steps in favor of a National election law.

The determination of the President not to have his message printed at the Government printing office in advance of its delivery to Congress, as has been usual, but to have manifold copies made by his private type-writer, is taken as evidence that the document will contain unusually interesting recommendations.

More of the Cronin Case.

Special to the Journal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—In the Cronin case to-day Wm. Flinn, an Inter Ocean reporter, testified that one week after the murder Mrs. Cronin told him the white horse brought to her door from Dinan's did not resemble the horse behind which Cronin was driven away. Edwin Jones, a Daily News reporter, testified that he and another reporter went to Carlson cottage after the discovery. As a joke they got some cotton batting and a piece of liver. They smeared blood from the latter upon the cotton and put the blood-stained batting in the cellar. The witness denied he put it there to furnish a sensation for his paper. Three of O'Sullivan's employees corroborated the evidence to establish an alibi for the ice man. On the cross-examination of Patrick Brennan, another employee of O'Sullivan, the fact was brought out that the lawyers for the defense got a lot of the witnesses together at O'Sullivan's house last Sunday and went over their testimony in the presence of the entire company.

Why the Shows Don't Stop at Truckee.

The Truckee Republican says:

It has been a long time since there has been a good theatrical troupe in Truckee. There are lots of good shows on the road and there are, on an average, two a week in Reno. The companies go right through Truckee and never stop. The time was once when Truckee was a good show town and all the troupes never thought of going by without stopping. There sometimes used to be a company here for a week and made money. Not long ago we saw a publication in the interest of theatrical companies. It gave a list of all the towns of the State with name of hall or opera house, size of stage, seating capacity, name of bill poster, hotels, and wound up with comments on the town. It gave Truckee and its hall, seating capacity, and that there was no bill poster, and then wound up by stating "Truckee and management quiet." It is no wonder then that the shows do not come here. They see this rating in their guide book and they have no desire to be "queered." Truckee ought to be a good town now, and we venture the assertion a good company would do well to stop here.

Product of Sierra Buttes Mine.

The San Francisco Bulletin says the gold product of the Sierra Buttes mine prior to 1870 was $1,958,050. It then became the property of some English capitalists, and has since produced down to June 30, 1888, the sum of $6,369,425, or a total of $8,324,475. This is a pretty good sum to take out from a small claim. Since 1870 the mine has paid its owners $1,574,655 in dividends, or at the rate of $15 12½ per share. During the first half of the current calendar year the ore extracted did not pay expenses, and since then work has been practically abandoned, as the deposit of pay ore is believed to be exhausted.

The San Francisco Bulletin says:

One or two savings bank projects have been talked about in local financial circles for the past few weeks. There is no trouble in starting a bank of this kind in the city. There is enough money to start several. The difficulty is to find borrowers for the money the bank would have to lend at satisfactory rates and acceptable securities.

There is renewed talk of the organization of a trust company for San Francisco. We now have the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, American Bank and Trust Company, California Title Insurance Company, and a safe deposit department in the First National Bank. It is possible there may be room for another.

Everybody says the JOURNAL is well worth a bit of money, delivered by carrier.

There are now 175 patients at the Insane Asylum, the largest number in its history.

Mrs. Bisbee was discharged from the Asylum yesterday and her husband took her East.

S. O. Wells returned from Los Angeles yesterday. The flowers are still in bloom down in that section.

Andy Peterson and wife, of Virginia, were passengers for the Bay last night, on their honeymoon trip.

Judge Rives and a dozen other Eurekaans came in from the Base Range yesterday on their way to Carson to appear in the timber suits.

Mat Healy came in from the north last evening. He says the storm has been a glorious one and his understanding is that it has extended as far north as the Oregon line.

Senator John P. Jones, Supt. Lon Hamilton, Supt. Yerington, Alvina Hayward, W. S. Hobart and Col. B. F. Morrow were passengers for the Comstock yesterday morning.

It is said no appointment will be made to the position lately vacated by Miss Casbolt in the adjusting room of the Mint, the present force of ladies being considered ample to handle the work.

On receipt of Lieutenant-Governor Chubbuck's resignation it is said a prominent Carsonite will be tendered and probably accept the appointment.—Carson Tribune.

Would it be any more than fair to give Washoe the appointment.

FAUNTLEROY TO-NIGHT.

A Large Audience Will Pay Homage to Him.

It is expected that the Opera House this evening will be crowded with our best people to witness that great success, "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

The Oregonian, of Portland, speaks of the play as follows:

"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." If any one doubted the truth of this saying he had but to look over the audience gathered within the New Park Theater last week during the representation of Mrs. Burnett's delightful play, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," to be assured of its truth. Nightly were the woman in the audience moved to tears at the touching pathos of "Dearie's" sacrifice of her gentle-hearted, loving boy, and even strong men, to whose eyes tears had been strangers for, for those many years, were seen to wink and blink suspiciously and furtively to draw their hands across their eyes, the while glancing about shamefacedly, only to find their neighbors in a similar plight.

It can safely be doubted if any play ever produced in Portland has given such thorough, honest enjoyment to those who understood and appreciated it. It is so pure in motive. It has for its central figure that most interesting of all studies, a child, and one that in natural attributes is all that is loving and tender, yet sturdy, manly and a thorough boy. The story is told in such a simple, straightforward manner, and in language that always falls pleasingly upon the ear, the situations are natural and unforced, and the sentiment that pervades the work is of that kind that goes straight to the heart of every mother, father and child.

The company presenting the play was in every way a most excellent one.

THE STORM.

The Snow and Rain Still Pouring Down.

The storm raged with unabated fury yesterday, the snow falling thick and fast on the mountains and the rain pouring down in the valleys around here. Every chain of mountains surrounding Reno is covered with snow. It is hoped that the storm has been as heavy in the eastern part of the State. It is more badly needed in that section of the State than in the western portion. The reports from Humboldt, Elko and other parts are meager and indefinite. Notwithstanding the storm has been so severe in this section there are no reports of any particular damage having been done.

On Monday a drove of about 600 fat heaves was shipped from Winnemucca to San Francisco. They were driven to Winnemucca from French's ranch in Oregon, and were in good condition.

SILVER AND WATER.

BETTER PROSPECTS FOR BOTH
GIVE NEVADANS RE-NEWED HOPE.

Bellamy's "Looking Backward" and the Nationalist Clubs—A Suggestion for Reno.

During the past month or six weeks, San Francisco has been fairly alive with Nevada people. Times must be pretty good with all of you up there or the people could not afford to travel so much.

Some of your State papers, however, seem to be croaking about hard times, just the same as they have been doing for the past ten years. As a matter of fact, I suppose that business is a little dull in some localities, but if there ever was a reason for hope this seems a proper season for the indulgence of that cheerful feeling.

Silver is going up, with a prospect of still farther advancement. By just legislation Congress can place Nevada's chief metal product in such a position that hundreds of mines now closed down would be swarming with workmen in less than a month.

Everybody knows that this would mean an increase of from 10,000 to 15,000 inhabitants within a year.

By the way, did it ever occur to you that Nevada citizens have a certain proud distinction on account of these being a few of you? The security of voters is not without its advantages, for Nevada, as every school-boy knows, has as many votes as New York in the United States Senate. By reason of this it happens that one Nevada is politically the equivalent of about 185 New Yorkers.

In addition to the advance in the price of silver, Nevada has the irrigation agitation, from which so much is to be hoped. Now that the subject has been brought to the attention of the country and to the people themselves, the result is inevitable. Some years may pass before any tangible results are attained, but in the end vast acres of desert land will be reclaimed.

Some fears have been expressed that efforts in this direction will be hindered by obstructionists, who hold possession of the most desirable sites for reservoirs. There is a simple method of dealing with such persons. If the people wish to utilize any property for the public benefit, they have a right to take it—of course paying the holder a fair equivalent.

I am a firm believer in the propriety of the general Government making appropriations for the purpose of helping the people to make homes. The same principle which sanctioned the giving of homesteads to actual settlers, it seems to me, warrants the Government in rendering those homesteads tenable.

If Congress should decline to give money for establishing the necessary reservoirs, the next best thing would be to cede all public lands to the State, with the understanding that the proceeds of such lands should be devoted to irrigation development; one thing or the other is bound to come. Patience, perseverance and united effort will certainly bring about the desired end.

The fashionable thing in geotical society just now is to belong to a Nationalist club. These clubs are springing up all over the city, and the membership is reported to be increasing in a wonderful manner. These clubs declare that the object for which they strive is the realization of the condition of affairs foreshadowed in Edward Bellamy's book "Looking Backward." The sale of this book has been greater than that of any other publication this season, and is equaled only by Wallace's "Ben Hur," which ten years after its first appearance is more popular than ever before.

What does all this prove? Does it not indicate that the people really like serious reading when it is furnished in an acceptable manner?

One day last week I attended a session of a Nationalist club. It is a sample of many similar organizations in this city. The meeting was held in Parlor A, of the Palace Hotel.

In the center of the immense room was a table covered with copies of "Looking Backward." The room was crowded with men and women, old and young, enthusiastic followers of Bellamy and anxious inquirers into the principles of the so-called new philosophy. There is nothing really novel in the propositions laid down, but the fresh and sprightly manner in which they are presented gives them a charm that is extremely fascinating to many readers. If I should be asked to define the motive of the work, I should say that it is an attempt to illustrate a realization of the Golden Rule.

If the young people of Reno desire something out of the ordinary with which to occupy their evenings this Winter, I can think of nothing that would yield more pleasure and furnish more food for thought than the formation of a Nationalist club. The University students might find such an organization an enjoyable adjunct for their literary societies.

The friends of Miss Clapp and Miss Babcock would have been delighted if they could have heard the comments made with regard to them by the venerable Judge Hoge when he decided the recent contest with regard to Senator Stewart's grandchildren. Judge Hoge said that from the testimony in the case he was convinced that the boys could not be in better hands than they are at present. He had them read to him, and they showed such proficiency that he could not withhold an expression of astonishment.

It has been raining here for the past day or two, and I sincerely hope that a good slice of the moisture finds its way over to your side of the Sierra Nevada range.

WELLS DRURY.

San Francisco, November 17, 1889.

ALONG THE RAILROAD.

Reno Salvation Amelities, Etc.—Truckee and Carson River Improvements—Milling Prospects Brightening—Way-side Mining Notes—Silver City Social Festivities.

Corr. "Virginia Enterprise."

Sunday was one of Reno's unquiet days. Until past noon dust rolled in thick, blinding clouds before a furious wind, and everybody who did not dodge into churches or saloons stayed at home. About 3 p. m. the wild, dirty storm subsided, and the Salvation Army sallied forth to its regular contest with the evil one, marching three abreast in a single platoon. The right wing played a cornet, the left wing an accordion, and the middle a tambourine, upon which she hit a vigorous accompaniment to the peculiar music of her male comrades. They drew attentive audiences and did effective work, especially in front of one boarding-house north of the track, where numerous hardened Renoites gathered in front and around them.

"Join with us," exclaimed the chief exhorter in the midst of his eloquent harangue, "and be saved." Leave the paths of sin and join the army of the Lord. Peter holds the key of heaven, and the gates will be opened to the thief, the gambler, the whisky drinker or any repentant sinner who truly desires to enter therein and be saved.

"All right, Peter," shouted one jolly, red-nosed chap, tossing a coin over the heads of the crowd into the ring, "there's my dollar; pass me in," and away he meandered down street, looking recklessly satisfied as though he had fixed things all right.

After dark the army campaigned around the principal blocks with the same music, loudly exhorting everybody to come down to the barracks and hear the words of saving grace. And a multitude of hard-looking scribes, Pharisees and promiscuous sinners did follow them, it is to be hoped with salutary effect.

THE NEW RAILROAD DEPOT

At Reno is fast approaching completion. The massive brick walls are up, the roof in place and the slate shingling being as rapidly performed as a large gang of mechanics can do it. It is a long, low building, covering all the ground of the destroyed depot, and more, too; and when it is completed it is said to be one of the finest and best railroad depots on the Pacific Coast.

MILLS AND MINES.

The generous storms in the mountains have reactivated the Truckee river so that the mills along its course have plenty of water power for active work, the flouring mill, the reduction works and the State Insane Asylum below Reno being all suitably supplied. The deep shaft being sunk just back of Steamboat Springs, on the authority of Norrie's "metallic indicator," has not yet struck any silver or gold ore, but the enterprising workers are still hopeful. The Harris mine, east of Washoe lake, still yields good pockets of rich gold ore, and considerable silver ore of good grade, but refractory nature is exposed for extraction when required. Yesterday the Brunswick mill ditch was taking the whole of the water in the Carson river, none running over the dam; but with the rain and snow the volume was increasing, and by this time all the mills are doubtless able to run again to their full capacity. A large amount of prospecting and development work is being done in the Silver City group of mines, just below the railroad. The Hayward is shipping ore and the Oast will resume shortly, or as soon as the present litigation is settled. The shaft of the Goodman mine is down 300 feet and a drift west from it is in 130 feet.

VEGETABLE MUSIC.

A Silver City man on the train yesterday was telling us about a ball they had down there a while ago. During an interlude between the dances the band, by way of entertainment, played a very well executed funeral dirge. One appreciative couple stepped out and swung into a waltz, another got in on a polka, another on a schottische, others on the racket and various other terpsichorean gymnastics, all hands catching on to their satisfaction and shouting for an encore, considering it the best tune of all, but when they were told it was only a funeral march they called for something else. In fact one party who had been trying to fit the Highland fling or Irish jig onto it said it wasn't half as good as the Arkansas Traveler. When any band plays a tune they think a Silver City dancer can't work in on something they'll get footed.

Expenses of Marshals.

The First Comptroller of the Treasury has decided that the United States Marshal who undertakes to serve a Government subpoena on a witness and fails to find him is not entitled to the expenses of the trip, notwithstanding they were incurred only in going to the point indicated in the writ; also, that he is not entitled to actual expenses for traveling to another place to arrest a person whom he fails to find; also, that he is not entitled to mileage for return after conveying the criminal to the place designated for confinement.

With an assessed valuation of $50,000, 000, Denver has a bonded debt of $110,000. This is suggestive. Denver has not a yard of pavement, nor a foot of sewer.

WHAT ON EARTH.

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a mediator of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at "real prices"? No medicine in the world is giving such universal satisfaction for purifying the blood as BREGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work costs you nothing.

OSBURN & SHOEMAKER, Druggists.

Excellent, reliable and economical are the stoves and ranges sold by Lange & Schmitt. Every house and store should have them. Call and inspect before purchasing.

Go to Lange & Schmitt's for ranges, and cook stoves. Best assortment in the State.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health. At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.
